Court Celebrates National Adoption Day with 17 Adoptions Saturday

Fort Lauderdale, FL – Seventeen children ranging in age from toddlers to teens will be formally adopted this Saturday during a fun-filled celebration of National Adoption Day at the Broward County Courthouse. The event will feature games, gifts and lots of joy.

You are invited!

The event begins at 9 a.m. with a formal ceremony in the Jury Room, followed by adoption hearings in the individual courtrooms of various judges.

“It’s always a big deal when a child gets his or her forever family. This is probably the most important day of their life,” said Judge John B. Bowman, a former dependency judge who has been organizing the annual event for years.

The aim of National Adoption Day is to shine a light on this issue and stir interest in the children who are waiting to be placed in forever homes, while also celebrating those that have been adopted. The goal is that media outreach, publicity and participation by community organizations will help spread the stories of kids who are waiting for permanency and the life-changing chance for a new start.

Media covering this event should enter the courthouse via the rotunda, and report to the Jury Room (#3320). Information as to the courtrooms where individual adoptions will take place will be shared at that time.
