

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING A PETITION FOR A RISK PROTECTION ORDER
(With or Without Requesting a Temporary Ex Parte Risk Protection Order)

This petition must be filed by either a law enforcement officer or a law enforcement agency through an employee or person authorized to file the petition on their behalf (the “Petitioner”). No one other than law enforcement may file a petition for a risk protection order. It is not necessary for the Petitioner to be an attorney.

When should this form be used?

This form should be used in situations when there is evidence that a person (the “Respondent”) poses a significant danger of harming himself or herself or others by possessing a firearm or ammunition.

This form can be used to request a court order that will require the Respondent to 1) surrender to law enforcement all firearms, ammunition, and any license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm in their possession, custody or control; and 2) be prohibited from purchasing, attempting to purchase, receiving, or possessing any firearms or ammunition for a specified period of time, up to one year.

The Petitioner may also use this form to request a temporary ex parte risk protection order. A temporary ex parte risk protection order may be issued without notice to the Respondent upon a showing that the Respondent poses a significant danger of causing personal injury to himself or herself or others in the near future. Such an order is in effect only until the hearing on the petition for a final risk protection order at which time the Respondent will have received notice and an opportunity to participate in the hearing.

If the Petitioner requests a temporary ex parte risk protection order, there are two additional requirements that are not otherwise required for a petition for a final risk protection order: 1) the sworn facts that demonstrate that Respondent poses a significant danger of causing injury must be based on personal knowledge; and 2) the sworn facts must demonstrate that the danger may occur in the near future.

If issued, a temporary ex parte risk protection order 1) will require the Respondent to immediately surrender all firearms and ammunition in the Respondent’s custody, control, or possession and any license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm issued to the Respondent under section 790.06, Florida Statutes, and 2) will temporarily prohibit the Respondent from purchasing, attempting to purchase, receiving, or possessing a firearm or ammunition.

Where must this form be filed?

This petition must be filed in the clerk’s office for the circuit court 1) in the county where the Petitioner’s law enforcement office is located or 2) in the county where the Respondent resides.

What must be shown?

The petition and accompanying affidavit(s) must provide facts that give rise to a reasonable fear that Respondent poses a significant danger of causing personal injury to themselves/others by having a firearm or ammunition in their custody, control, or possession. The burden of persuasion for a temporary ex parte risk protection order is “reasonable cause.” The burden of persuasion for a final risk protection order is “clear and convincing evidence.”

As much of the Respondent’s identifying and demographic information as possible must be included in the appropriate spaces in Section II.

Other important instructions:

Depending on the facts and circumstances, the Petitioner may either file a petition only for a final risk protection order, or file a petition for a final risk protection order with a request for a temporary ex parte risk protection order. The Petitioner should indicate immediately under the title whether the Petitioner does or does not request a temporary ex parte risk protection order.

Pursuant to section 790.401(2)(h), Florida Statutes, there are no fees for filing a petition.
